Munich, October 29th, 2019 - Studio 100 Media and Zapf Creation have signed an extensive international license agreement for CGI brand “Heidi”. The multi-year agreement initially covers the rights in German-speaking territories, France, the UK and Ireland, Russia, Poland, Scandinavia, Benelux, the Czech Republic and Slovakia. The cooperation includes puppets and plush figures of the characters from Studio 100’s popular CGI series. The new products will be available from 2020.

Zapf Creation will launch a total of five products - one Heidi soft doll with talkback function, 30cm tall, two cuddly Heidi and Peter soft dolls, 30cms tall, and two cuddly toys, the St. Bernard Josef (20cm) and a goat (15cm). The sweet dolls are manufactured in a completely new production process. A special fabric mask for the face is formed by warmth, printed in digital print and softly stuffed, thus the doll receives a three-dimensional natural appearance and remains thereby soft and cuddly. As the dolls wear plastic shoes, they can even stand tall.

Wolfgang Hoffmann, EVP Corporate Marketing & Product Development said, “We are happy that we have developed marvellous Heidi products in cooperation with Studio 100 Media and we are very optimistic, that many Heidi fans will love these dolls and cuddly plush animals. They are very authentic and simply adorable.”

Peter Kleinschmidt, Commercial Director of Studio 100 Media says, “The cooperation with Zapf Creation complements the merchandise world around Heidi with special products and a convincing brand fit. In 2020 Heidi will have a broad presence around the globe – with the international launch of the CGI-series' Season Two and also on toy shelves. Together with a strong partner like Zapf, we are looking forward to presenting a really successful range of dolls and plusses that will make the hearts of the fans beat faster”.
